Dr. T. O. Kirkpatrick went to Columbia Wednesday and attended a part of the State Fair. The bad weather no doubt kept otherfrom this section taking the same trip. The light and cold rains which fell here Wednesday and Thursday of last week were, from what is learned, heavier up the country, so much so that the waters of Rocky River werthigh enough to damage the temporary bridge that was put across it, after the big freshel the last of August. While it is still bel guesd to some extent it is dangerous to do so. The eastern side of the river is again cut off, in a measure, from this piace which is damaging to both sides in preventing trade in cotton, cotton seed and other farm products, and the road authorities could relieve the present undestrable and injurious conditions wer much by making a big successful effort to have this, one of the most important crossings in the county, put in a good condition, and just as soon as possible, for it is needed,—badiy needed.

The above river runs through from eighteen to twenty miles of Abbeville county territory. Some time ago, spanning it, were six or seven bridges; these were washed away. Afterwards two temporary dry weather bridges were built across li—the one several miles above this piace—the other near here. The one above was carried off last week,—the one near here, nearly put out of business.

One strange thing about the river is, that some years ago if a bridge was lost or injured a ford could be easily fixed, which could be utilized for the time being,—nut so now, as it is said that the river has washed out so that it is not fordable.
